Webinar: Question and Answer panel hosted by Carmel Capewell and Alison Fox

As part of the Research Methodologies SIG's remit to encourage evidence-based practice, we are providing examples of practitioners who have implemented their research through methodologies which include adaptations of action research and teachers' reflective practice.

Participants will be given the opportunity to discuss the methodological approaches taken, the knowledge generated and ideas for how support networks might further develop evidence-based practice, both as researchers and practitioners.

This virtual event will be held over three weeks to allow participants the chance to view presentations on-line at a time convenient to them. The presentations will be available between 3-21 August, 2020. In addition there will be two Keynotes. The event will finish with a Question and Answer Webinar on Friday 21 August, based on questions put to the presenters throughout the virtual event.
