According to the free market fundamentalist Milton freedman, 'Only a crisis – actual or perceived – produces real change. When that crisis occurs, the actions that are taken depend on the ideas that are lying around.'

The financial crash of 2018 illustrates perfectly what happens when what had been politically impossible becomes the political common sense. COVID-19 presents a similar moment of change and it is the ideas that are lying around that will come to define the PostPandemic world.

This seminar will encourage different reflections of the issue of PostPandemic Leadership – with a view to analysing what is and imagining what ought to be.
